

...behind the lens...

Trui Hanouille is freelance photographer, designer, travelling student and motorbiker. Combining a Belgian sense of the uncommon, a portion of nerve, and a keen eye for beauty, she constantly recognises her passport is sheer luck. Bikes have taken her a variety of places over the last 20 years - Iran, Pakistan and Yemen some of her favourites. We'll be exposing more of her work soon, following her electric long distance return journey to Istanbul on a Zero DS. #elektrogirl is now her middle name.

www.truihanouilleblog.wordpress.com.

